COL JEROME SAYS HE WILL AC-CEPT THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

Beturns from Montauk Point with an Autherized Statement from the Leader of the Bough Riders-If Elected He Will Be "Governor of the Entire Party." The Republican situation in the State of New York developed two incidents yesterday. One was a statement issued to the evening newsby Col. Lovell H. Jerome, a member of William Brockfield's organization of the Rement was as follows: Col. Lovell H. Jerome, who has been taking some interest in the nomination of Col. Roose-vell, came up from Montauk last evening and said:

Now that the war is over and his regiment will be mustered out in a few days, Col. Rooseveit authorized the following statement: That he is and siways has been a Republican in the broadest sense of the word. While he was not seeking the Republican domination for Governor, should it come to him, he would gladify accept it as an honor and a duty, recognizing, as he does, the dignity and honor of the position. He means the regular nomination of the Republican party by the delegates at the Baratoga Covention. Should he receive the nomination and be elected he would be a Republican Governor—a Governor of the entire party—and he would most carnestly hope to receive the support of the Republicans throughout the State, irrespective of faction. An indorsement from the Independents would be most flattering and gratfying to him, and he would certainly hope for sheir loyal support toward his election should be be honored with the nomination. He has been devoting his entire time to the business of getting his regiment mustered out of service and looking after the welfare of his men. When this has been accomplished, and not until then will he be able to give his attention to the political situation.

Col Jerome in the politics of New York city. without the slightest idea of detracting from his merits, has been regarded, it was said, as a somewhat erratic individual. Most people who read the statement of Col. Jerome in the afternoon newspapers, while ready to give full credit to Col. Jerome, nevertheless thought it advisable to send a wire to Col. oseveit at Camp Wikoff. The answer came back from Col. Roosevelt that while the language used in Col. Jerome's statement was not exactly his own the purport of it and the real sentiment of Roosevelt's position as expressed in Col. Jerome's statement were cor-

Well-known Republicans and well-known independents said that there was nothing particularly new in this statement by Col. Jerome for Col. Boosevelt, but all admitted that it was a timely incident, in view of the conduct of certain independent citizens in issuing, on Friday night, an independent ticket for State officers with the name of Col. Roosevelt at the head for There was a fine old hunt yesterday to ascertain exactly how this independent ticket came to be precipitated upon the reading public. It was issued from the City Club by a man named Paul Fuller. It was learned at the City Club last night that the City Club is not responsible fashion for the document issued by Mr. Fuller from its hearthstone. Mr. Fuller and his friends who precipitated the independent State ticket, it was added,

The Citizens' Union people, through R. Fulton Gutting, Chairman, also announced that they could not be considered spousors for Mr. Fuller's statement, or the ticket presented by him for independent. Treasurer Barton Says the Democrats Lack Money for Election Expenses.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 10.-Treasurer Llewellyn Barton of the Democratic State Committee said to-night that sufficient contributions had not been received to pay legitimate election expenses, and that so far as Congressman Reed's panses, and that so lar as Congression in rect a district is concerned no effort will be made to get home absent voters or furnish carriages for those physically incapacitated to walk to the polls. In some towns carriages will be furnished by individual subscriptions, but the District and County Committees have no funds at their disposal.

He said there was no occasion for air fleed to worry, as his re-election was practically certain, though the Democrats hope to cut his majority down considerably below that of two years ago. Treasurer Barton predicts a light vote all over the State, but is of the opinion that the Democratic falling off will be less than that of the Republicans.

Second Assembly District Republican Convention. Banylon, N. Y., Sept. 10.-The Republicans of the Second Assembly district met in convention at Haleyon Hall here this afternoon, with the Hon. Joseph Nimmo presiding, and Justices of the Peace Strowsen and Smith recording. The following delegates were manimously chosen: State Convention, Assemblyman Carll B. Burr. Lowis Smith, Seanfor Richard Highe, Joseph Nimme, Jr., and Josiah Robbins: Judicary Convention, Freeman T. Hulse, Judge Thomas Young, Livingston Smith, Edward B. Mowbray, and William G. Nicoli. The delegates chosen are all strict organization men, and go uninstructed.

The sentiment throughout the convention, however, seemed to favor Roosevelt. the Hon. Joseph Nimmo presiding, and Justices STANCHFIELD DETS CHESCUNG. He Makes a Speech of Thanks and Then Hears Some Free Silver Cheering.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 10.-John B. Stanehfield, who hopes to be nominated by the Democrats for Governor, divided honors with Major H. H. Rockwell at the Chemung County Convention at Horseheads to-day. For the first time in two years delegates to a Democratic convention in this county were allowed to cheer for free silver, but the leaders were not to blame. They didn't plan it and were aghast when it Mayor Denton was Chairman was all over. He condemned the National and State adminpublicans of New York county. This state-was all over. Mayor Denton was Chairman. He condemned the National and State administrations, the canal frauda and the Force bill. He blamed the Republicans for bringing forward as a candidate a man whose only distinction was a military career of aix weeks. Closing he said:

"One Republican canal ring was broken up by a Democratic Governor, Samuel J. Tilden; another Democratic Governor, John B. Stanchfield, will break up the present one."

These delegates to the Syrscuse Convention were then elected: Former Judge 8. S. Taylor, former Speaker of the Assembly Robert P. Bush, and the Hon, J. J. O'Connor. Resolutions indorsing Stanchfield were then adopted, Mr. Stanchfield was called for, and from a seat in the rear of the hall said:

"At this moment I have but one word to say, and that is one of gratitude and appreciation. Since 1876, when we won the election and the Presidency. I have been in the front ranks fighting for Democracy's principles. For a quarter of a century you have maintained your good offices, and I am grateful for your favor and confidence. If in the uncertainties of political life it should be my good fortune to win, nothing will I enjoy more than to come before the Democrats of Chemung county and hear you say, 'Well done, goodand trite servant.'"

The delegates were called out, and all renewed their allegiance to the party. Some one then yelled 'Rockwell,' and the silver leaders looked worried. They were downest when he had finished. Mr. Rockwell did not say much—only this:

"It isn't necessary for me to renew my all-prince to the Democration network."

My first platform was Cleilan's, my last the one framed at Chicago McCiellan 8, my last the vice when the convention hall, and Rockwell sat down happier than he has been in two years. BLACK GETS MONTGOMERY COUNTY

Under the Leadership of a Canal Superintendent Instructed Delegates Are Sent. AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Sept. 10,-The Republicans of Montgomery county this afternoon held a convention at Fonda to elect State. Congress and Senatorial delegates. The convention was largely attended, and was manipulated by the county organization under the leadership of Jacob Snell, a canal superintendent. The State delegates are Jacob Snell. Jay Hare, William B. Charles, John Whittemier, John Hubbard, George H. Smith, Alphoneo Watrath and Jacob Saltsman. It was understood generally that the delegation were to go to the convention uninstructed, but they were instructed for Gov. Black. These resolu tions were adopted:

"Resolved, That we hereby affirm our confidence in the National Administration and in our beloved and respected President, William McKinley. We congratulate him and the country upon the wise policy pursued and the splendid results attained by his Administration since his inauguration. Prosperity has been restored to our business interests, the country placed on a sound financial basis, and the free silver heresy buried beyond resur-country placed on a sound financial basis, and the free silver heresy buried beyond resurrection.

"We congratulate the Aiministration and the country upon the giorious termination of the war with Spain we congratulate the army, the navy, and all the officers, soldiers and sallors who have performed such splendid service for their country and the cause of liberty and humanity.

"Hesolved, That we heartly indorse the administration of Gov. Frank S. Black and the delegates to the State Convention be and they hereby are instructed to vote for Frank S. Black for Governor."

One of the delegates endoavored to have a resolution adopted in favor of the nomination of State Treasurer Addison B. Colvin for Comptroller, but opposition was at once manifested, and the resolution, after being read, was withdrawn. Resolutions were also adopted in favor of Hebart Krum for Senator from the Twenty-seventh district and John K. Stewart of Amsterdam for Congress from the Twenty-first district.

Notwithstanding that the convention resolved that the delegates to the State Convention should support Black for renomination, it is safe to say that three-quarters of the delegates in their hearts favored Roosevelt for Governor. Some of the State delegates were decidedly opposed to being instructed by the convention, but the resolution went through.

CITS PLANS IN THE STATE.

Candidate Titchener Says He Is Willing to Be Sacrificed for Roosevelt.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 10.-Edmund H. Titchener, who has been named for State Treasurer by the Citizens' Union of New York. said to a Sun correspondent to-day that while he did not expect to win, he was willing to sacrifice himself for the purpose of electing Roosevelt. "The Union," said Mr. Titchener, "is the parent organization of the reform movement in this State, and there are several reasons for its nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for Governor. First, Roosevelt is the choice of the people, but there are many independent voters who would not vote for him if he were nominated by the Republican party, thinking he would be controlled by Senator Platt. His nomination by the Citizens' tor Platt. His nomination by the Citizens' Union and indorsement by the Republicans obviates this difficulty. Again, the nomination of Boosevelt at this timehad the object of forcing Platt to indorse him. He cannot now, in the interests of harmony, turn him down for another; and lastly, it was necessary that the Citizens' Union have a head to their ticket. They propose to enter the arena this fall and make a fight in New York city for members of Assembly, Senators and Congressmen.

for members of Assembly, Senators and Congressmen.

Last year it was found many votes were lost for Low because the Union did not have a candidate for Court of Appeals, and the voter was obliged to vote an old party nomination, thus marking the head of the column and voting the wrong ticket. If Platt indorses Roosevelt the other State nominees will drop out, as their aim has been accomplished, but if he does not they will go in to win. The fight will be carried on threughout the State and it is probable that a State Convention will be called and a platform adopted, though this has not been decided on."

SNAP CAUCUS AGAINST PORTER. Tactics of the Managers of the Republican

Machine in Connecticut. STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 10.-The race be tween John Addison Porter of Hartford and George E. Lounsbury of Ridgefield for the Republican nomination for Governor is growing in interest. As is generally known, Lounsbury has no more ardent supporter and Porter no more violent opponent than Sam Fessenden of this city. There was a Republican caucus held here on Wednesday evening last which had every mark of the snap variety.

No notification of the caucus was given until Tuesday evening, and the notice then was decidedly measure. As a result, there were only about thirty-five voters present at the caucus, although the Republican vote here is between 1,400 and 1,500. The large majority of those present were intimate political friends of Mr. Fessenden. Everything was done in a perfunctory manner, the lack of enthusiasm being particularly conspicuous. The delegates were not instructed to vote for Lounsbury. Such action would have been superfluous, for those chosen were Samuel Fessenden. E. L. Scoffeld, Charles E. Rowell, and Michael Renealy. Had the caucus been sufficiently advertised there would have been sufficiently advertised there sentiment in the rank and file of the party.

The machine, on which Porter is waging war, realizes that it will be necessary to win every delegate possible. Hence the so-called caucus at Stamford on Wednesday evening last. No notification of the caucus was given until

THEE MYCARDEN THE MAYOR SHOULD BE NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR.

They Say He Could Get the Votes of All Democrats in New York, Albany, Troy, Syraquae, Rochester and Buffalo-McCar ren Says There Is No Candidate in Sight. The 125 Democratic editors who attended the dinner of the Democratic campaigners in the Hoffman House on Friday night toddled out of town yesterday morning. Some of them murmured: 'Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam. Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home." This beneficent sentiment was expressed by the older members of the profession. The younger fellows in the business ambled along saving:

"A business with an income at its heels Furnishes always oil for its own wheels."

Never mind the December and May sentiments of this highly honorable and enthusiastle gathering of Democratic editors. They are all welcome to their opinions, it was said, and especially are they welcome to express their sentiments in New York city. Every man of them was voted to be a good fellow. Most of them are askew as to political principles. There is no doubt about that, and yet these very same editors in honor of long gone days have taken their cue from the doctrines of the National Democratic Conventions. Let that al rest, it was said; it will all come out in the campaign, when the flerce heat of political controversy will dissipate many a filmy notion.

All the Democratic editors said that Chairman McCarren's speech at the dinner in the Hoffman House the night before had been wise and judicious. There weren't any "hammers" in it, they said; it was a speech that would let any-body out who had fanntical notions on any question concerning Democratic policy. The Democratic editors agreed that Chairman Me-Carren's speech was an oily, smooth thing; one with a lot of violets and roses in it and always evading the momentous principle, which is the controversy between the Republican and Democratic parties all over the country to-day; that is, Chairman McCarren evidently desired to the controversy between the Republican and Democratic parties all over the country to-day; that is, Chairman McCarren evidently desired to ignore the Chicago platform of 1896, and, as a matter of fact, the Democratic editors said before they left town yesterday that the biandishments of Chairman McCarren's speech had evidently gotten in their work.

None of the Democratic editors spoke of the Chicago platform of 1886. They said they didn't know any such platform, except when they got to thinking over matters in the privacy of their editorial closets. The whole scheme now, it was added, is to keep this platform away from the eyes of the Democratic voters of the State and talk about State issues alone. Then the Democratic editors, old and young, told of what a B-e-a-u-t-i-f-u-i speech the Hon. Thomas F. Grady. Mr. Croker's right-hand man, had delivered to them at the banquet. They said something about the report in The Bux yesterday morning as to a controversy between Chairman McCarren and William H. Hearst, editor of the New York Journal, as to which was the handsomer man, and they charged this matter up to Senator Grady. The Democratic editors said they would settle the squestion themselves, and their verdict was that while Mr. Hearst was undoubtedly more beautiful than Chairman McCarren, there was a light in the eyes of Mr. McCarren which inspired them to think that he was very much more pious than Mr. Hearst was that while Mr. Hearst and McCarren combined, and also more pious than the two together.

That's all very well for fun, said the Democratic editors, and then they got down to business. It was ascertained that the majority of them, in their cool moments yesterday, advised Chairman McCarren that Syracuse on Sept. 28.

There is no mistake about this statement. They want on to tell Chairman McCarren that Yan Wyck could get the votes of the Germans and all Democratic in New York city, which comprises the territory below the Bronx, and in the cities of Albany, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and Troy. They said at the Hoffman House when he was asked about this matter:

"I shall answer no questions of the character you put to me. You say that the Democratic editors told you this thing. That is none of my affairs. It is two weeks off and over, to the Democratic candidate in sight. We do not propose to be forced into showing our hand at this time."

The Democratic editors, notwithstanding anything Chairman McCarren said last night, made broadcast the statement that they had told Chairman McCarren of their ideas of the matter concerning Van Wyck, and, furthermore, they in-isted that they had requested Chairman McCarren to communicate their wishes to Senator Murphy and Richard Croker. This view of the situation was later on communicated to Mr. McCarren.

He said in response to inquiries: "I have nothing to say whatever, I am not hore to talk. I am here to try and bring about harmony between the Democratic factions in the State."

mony between the Democratic factions in the State."

A number of Brooklyn Republicans waddled into the Hoffman House and said that the Hon. Hugh McLaughlin would return to Brooklyn from Jamesport, I. I., on Tuesday, They pointed out that former Senator Hill has not made his customary visit to Mr. McLaughlin this summer. There has been a good deal of talk and nonsense about this proposed vist, it was added, but when folks get to the Democratic State Convention in Syracuse they will ascertain that there is harmony all along the line, and that former Senator Hill may be requested to put his shoulder to the wheel and make a few speeches in a number of the cities of the State during the campaign.

TIOGA DEMOCRATS.

Contest Between Maloney and Lynch Men Said to Have Been Compromised.

Owzgo, N. Y., Sept. 10.-There has been a hot fight among Democrats of Tioga county regarding Patrick Maloney's candidacy for State Treasurer. Maloney is a former County Committee Chairman, has been a State committeeman high in Hill's ranks, and County Chairman Lynch has always been with him Lynch was in New York recently and gave and nterview inimical to Maloney's candidacy. A fight began at the caucuses. Maloney is said to have won by a safe majority of delegates. This morning one town's delegates are said to have turned over to Lynch and it is said that a compromise will be made by which Lynch shall head the delegates to the State Convention, and have one other man on it, while Maloney will be represented by one only. Lynch, it is understood, is to present Maloney's name to the State Convention for State Treasurer.

The convention this alternoon elected as State delegates M. S. Lynch, Owego: M. D. Fisher. Spencer; Charles Dunn, Waverly. Harry B. Winters was nominated for Assembly. The naming of delegates to Congress and Senatorial conventions was left to a committee, consisting of M. J. Murray, M. S. Lynch, and L. W. Kiugman. A motion that the State delegates be instructed to vote as a unit was lost in a storm of opposition. a compromise will be made by which Lynch was found dead yesterday morning in Central Park, near Ninety-fifth street and the West Drive, with a bullet wound behind his right ear. His head was resting on the spokes of the front wheel of a bicycle. A 38-calibre revolver was in his right hand, and all the indications were that the man had committed suicide. The body was discovered by William Wilkins of 208 West Thirty-first street and Charles Sweeney of 550 West Forty-sixth street, who were walking around the path on the reservoir. They saw a man, who at first they thought was sleeping, under a tree near Ninety-fifth street. When they approached nearer they saw a pool of blood near the man's head. The dead man was about 40 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches in height, and had black huir and a black mustache and sallow complexion. He wore a slate-colored blevele jaceet, striped knickerbockers, blue golf stockings, a navy blue outing shirt, black tie and blue undershirt. The body was removed to the Morgue, where a careful search disclosed the name "Tom Belding" written with a blue pencil on one of the trousers pockets. The shoes which the lead man wore bore the name of the manufacturer, "W liay, Nashville, Tenn.," while the trousers buttons had "Dubuque" stamped upon them. The tie held a tag showing it was purchased in Minneapolis.

No papers were found on the body. The bicycle was marked "J. D. Staten, Chicago, Ill." Sweeney of 550 West Forty-sixth street, who

MEANING OF LOW FREIGHT RATES,

$3,000,000 Added This Year to New England Prosperity by the New Haven Boad. NEW HAVEN, Sept. 10 .- A meeting of the directors of the New York, New Haven and Hart-ford Railroad was held in New York yesterday. President Clark reported that the gross earnings of the road for the twelve months ending June 30 were $9,431,051.66. The income from other sources made the grand total $10. 032,110,08. After paying expenses there was a surplus of $109,822,21. On Sept. 1 there were 8,508 shareholders of the company and a capital stock of $50,437,000. Since June 30 the use of electricity has been extended on the Plymouth Division from East Weymouth to Braintree, 4.5 miles; on the Highland Division from New Britain to Bristol, 9 miles, by the third rail, and on the New Cannan Branch, 8 miles. Arrangements have been made to operate the line from Providence to Bristol and Fall River, 21 miles, by overhead trolley.

The report says that a comparison with previous years shows that, whereas the freight rate per ton per mile was in 1889, 0183 cent, in 1886 it has been only .01511 cent. At the rate of 1889 the road's freight earnings of 1888 would have been increased nearly $3,000.000. "This reduction must have contributed to the general prosperity of Bouthern New England," the report says. Plymouth Division from East Weymouth to

She Left Her Home in Brooklyn on Aug. 14 and Sent Back Word That She Had Gone Fur Away with the Man She Loved —McBride Sald to Have a Wife in Jersey.

Maude Doering, 17 years old, of 350 Thirteenth street, Brooklyn, and James T. McBride a well-to-do dentist, with whom she is alleged to have eloped, were arrested early yesterday morning at Wells Beach, Me., at the request of Chief of Police Murphy of Jersey City, who had been interested in the case because of his friendship for the girl's mother. Later in the day Mrs. Doering received the following tele-gram, dated Keunebunk, Me., Sept. 10:

"Mother, forgive me. I will be home to-night. Stop proceedings. Letter explains ail. Arrives this afternoon. Maude.

This was turned over to the Brooklyn police. and a requisition to bring the prisoner to this State will be sent to Maine. The missing girl's sister, Irene, says she will apply at the Adams Street Police Court to-day for a warrant for the arrest of McBride on the charge of abduction.

14. She left her home with Harry Tappen, a young man of 378 New York avenue, Jersey City. She told her mother they were going to Glen Island. She has not been seen since by any member of her family. On the following day Mrs. Doering received the following note "DEAR MA: When you receive this I shall be far away with the man I love. If you are wise, for Irene's sake, don't tell any one where I am unless you say I am away in Philadelphia on my vacation. It breaks my heart to say good-by, and I shall pray God to help you bear this for Irene's sake. "When I arrived at the bridge I fooled Harry, so don't blame him."

A few days after the departure of the girl young Tappen called at her home and told Mrs. Doering that in the crowd rushing from the trolley cars on the bridge Maude had given him the slip. He also showed Mrs. Doering a note which he said he had received. It read as follows: "Harry, dear friend, I am so sorry, that to

"Harry, dear friend, I am so sorry, that to please my own selfish heart your kindness has been so crueily appreciated, but try to forget it, for I am happy. Reep this quiet, I beg you. "Maude."

Mrs. Doering says that Tappen would not let her see the envelope which his note had come in, but Irene, the missing girl's younger sister, who had looked over his shoulder when he took the note out, says that there was no postage stamp on it. She and her mother also said that the two notes had not been written by Maude at all, but by a man who had tried, with but indifferent success, to imitate the girl's handwriting.

but indifferent success, to imitate the girl's handwriting.

Mrs. Evans of Jersey City sent word to Mrs. Doering that she had seen Maude at Twenty-hird street and Sixth avenue, on the day after her disappearance, with a man. She overheard the man teil the Doering girl to wait for him there while he went to Blegel-Cooper Co.'s to huy a trunk. Mrs. Doering then appealed to Chief of Police Murphy of Jersey City. Chief Murphy went to the office of Cooper & Cooper, Sooper, Soope The Jersey City polics learned on Friday that a man and woman answering the description of McBride and the Doering girl had been seen entering the Rockiand Hotel, on Kneeland street, Boston. A request to have them arrested was telegraphed to the Boston police. There was an answer from Boston within two hours to the effect that the man and woman wanted had registered at the hot-i as "T. Mc-Kenzle and wife," and that they had left there with all their baggage checked for Fair View House, Weils Beach, Me.

Chief Murphy then telegraphed the description to the village police of Wells Beach, where the arrest was made.

Mrs. Doering said last night with reference to her daughter's telegram, that she would certainly forgive her daughter, but she couldn't see, she said, why she should "stop proceedings" until the person responsible for the girl's going away had been punished.

McBride is about 38 years old and is married, but has not been living with his wife for some time. He formerly lived in Jersey City, but had recently located in Orange. several weeks.

WIDE OPEN, WITH A COP IN FRONT. The White Elephant's Style Does Not Please

Police Captain Price. The White Elephant, at Sixth avenue and Twenty-eighth street, was reopened last night under its old management. A Raines law club license furnished the excuse for the selling of liquor all night. In the rear of the bar on the ground floor is a space reserved for dancing. On the first floor is the "Klondike Room," and on the same floor is a stuffy room called the "Morgue," fashioned after a Parisian resort. Black wood coffins are used risian resort. Black wood coffins are used for tables and on the walls of the room are skulls and crossbones. The waiter is dressed entirely in black, and wears a silk hat with a deep mourning band. Women are allowed to smoke in every part of the building.

When Capt. Price heard that the resort was open for business, he and one of his ward men looked over it. What Capt. Price saw evidently idin't please him, for on his return to the station he sent a policeman to the place with orders to stand in front of it and tell those about to enter that it was a resort for disorderiy people. Ellis, the reputed proprietor, says he will keep the White Elephant open in spite of the police.

NO SYMPATHETIC STRIKES.

Proposed Agreement Between the Walking

Delegates and United Building Trades. A proposed agreement between the Board of Walking Delegates and the United Building Trades, representing the large building contractors, by which sympathetic strikes will be done away with, will be submitted for ratifles. tion to the unions affiliated with the board this week. This agreement was indorsed at a meeting of committees representing the Board of Walking Delegates and the United Building Trades last week. The new agreement pro-Trades last week. The new agreement provides for the appointment of a board of arbitration, so uposed of employers and employees, to whom all questions in dispute will be submitted. The walking delegates, in such a case, will appear before the board as counsel for the workers. It is believed that this agreement, if adopted by the unions, will bring about a radical change in the methods of the Board of Walking Delegates. The Building Trades Council, composed of unions which seceded from the board, is in sympathy with the new movement.

Aitman & Co. of New York, who has been an inmate of Dr. J. H. Cooley's private asylum in North Plainfield for several months past, es-caped yesterday afternoon. He had been gone caped yesterday afternoon. He had been gone nearly an hour before his absence was known to the authorities. Mrs. W. A. Wilson, wife of Chief of Police Wilson, of North Plainfield, was on the mountains with some friends not far from the asylum. Late in the afternoon Mrs. Wilson saw a man running away from the asylum. The party became frightened and entered a shanty and fastened thomselves in north the insance man passed. Afterward Mrs. Wilson hurried home and telephoned to the asylum.

A search was made and Kochler was found to be missing. Dr. Cooley sent out a number of attendants to search the woods and mountains. The hunt continued all last night and to-day, but so far Kochler has not been found. He was dressed in a suit of blue arge and wore a check tdeycle hat and russet shoes.

Kochler, at the time of his escape, was in charge of a nurse on the lawn. He asked for permission to go into the asylum. It was granted. After entering the building he went out of the back door and escaped. It is not believed that he had much money with him. Dr. Cooley says that Kochler will never recover from his disease, which is the result of a general breakdown.

He afterward had an autopsy performed on it by Dr. Frederick Ashe, but no traces of poison could be found. The horse, according to Dr. Ashe, had died from a rupture, caused by being driven too fast. Capt. Worth's action caused much indignation among his men. One of the policemen, in speaking about the matter yesterday, said:

"Capt. Worth's remarks have put a stigma on his men. It is now a common occurrence for people living in the vicinity of the police station to shout to us in the street and ask who poisoned the Captain's horse. The autopsy was made in view of the people, and it is no wonder that we are so annoyed. No one killed his horse but himself. Capt. Worth is scarcely 30 years old, but no one begruiges him his position. He seems to have no confidence in his men and believes that they are all against him, when, in fact, they are helping him in every way possible."

Capt. Worth, when seen, said that his remarks had no reflection on his men. Irish Point Laor Curtains reduced from $5.75 $4.50

YACHTING.

The Season on New York Bay Ends with Contests for the Moore Cups.

The yachting season on New York Bay ended resterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Atlantic Yacht Club, with the contests for the d'Allegri, whom she married about twenty years ago. She was born in Sandusky, O., and spent her childhood in La Crosse, Wis. Her father, whose name was Tucker, belonged to the Virginia family of that name and was a leader in Wisconsin politics. She moved to Chicago with her mother, who was a newspaper writer, and her two sisters after she shad reached maturity, and then studied for the operatie stage in Italy. She made her début under the direction of the elder Gye in 1876. Although she was a beautiful woman, it became evident that she was not likely to become a great singer, and after a career of about eight years she let the stage. In that time she original Mable of "The Pirates of Penzance," when the opera was sung here first at the Fifth Avenue Theatre. She also appeared in an operetta which she and Arthur Cellier wrote from Longfellow's "Masque of Panlora." This was a failure, and, after singing occasionally in concert, Miss Roosevelt retired from the stage. After that time she lived in Europe and devoted herself to writing. She lived almost exclusively in London during recent years. Among her works, which were larrely blographical and descriptive, were "Longfellow's Home Life," "Marked in Haste." 'Stage-Struck," Life of Gustave Dorf," "Verdi, Milan and Othello." and "The Copper Queen." She was about 45 at the time of her death.

Dr. George Trowbridge, 43 years old, died of heart disease early yesteriay morning at his Moore Cups, which were awarded by Vice-Commodore Harrison B. Moore. There were several accidents during the day, pr ncipal among which were the carrying away of the chain plates on Charles T. Pierce's big catboat Dot, the breaking of the jaws of the gaff on the Tiger. Both were withdrawn and salled into harbor under shortened sail. Several protests were received by the Regatta Committee, but decision was reserved in every case. The wind was from an imaginary line between an anchored stakeboat and the club pier to red can buoy No. 12 off the east end of East Bank; thence to a stakeboat off Fort Lafayette and home. Salled twice over, a distance of ten naut.cai miles. The direction of the wind made the course a run with spin-nakers to starboard to the first mark, a beat with a long and short leg to the Fort Lafayette mark, and the third leg, a broad reach with booms to starboard. T. Pierce's big catboat Dot, the breaking with a long and short leg to the Fort Latayette mark, and the third leg, a broad reach with booms to starboard.

After crossing the line the sloops broke out ballooners, and after passing Norton's Point all gybed and laid their course to Buoy 12. After rounding this all took in their kites and headed up the bay toward Swinburne Island, close hauled on the starboard tack. The Moccasin here, although the ninth boat to cross the line, began to show her mettle. She first disposed of the small flag, then passed the others one by one and lastly overhauling and passing the Sea Guil when off Buoy 11. They still stood on toward Staten Island, bucking the ebb tide. When half way between the island and Fort Waisworth the Moccasin went about and headed for the mark under the lee of Fort Latayette. After rounding she broke out her jibtopsail for the home mark. The Sea Guil set her spinnaker to port on this leg, but the Moccasin held her advantage. Summary:
